THE TIENTSIN TREATY AND THE ENGLISH COMMERCIAL INTERESTS .-- Au important discussion upon this subject took place yesterday at the meeting of the Council of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, founded upon a memorial from the Colonial and Foreign Trade Committee of the Chamber. 94 per c. pre. kong and Shanghai Chamber of Commerce. a 3 per c. pre. It was urged in these documents, that as the time for a revision of the treaty would be in June next, the attention of the Government should be called to the importance of securing more ample privileges for British commercial residents, modifications of duties on manufactured goods, &c. Mr Forwood and Mr Trimble dwelt upon the importance of foreign capitalists and traders having facilities afforded them to develop the internal navigation and resources of China, to work native coal-fields, construct railways, and to open up markets for Manchester and general goods. The memorial of the committee was adopted .- Liverpool Correspondent of Edinburgh Weekly Review.

Our Canton correspondent writes, under date 2nd June :- The late Footai Cheong had formed a correct opinion of the disposition of the Cantonese for kicking up rows, and it was with a view of preventing the the holder of the although the note committal of disturbance that His Excelnot in a position lency did not grant permission for theatrical entertainments during his tenure of office. the money. His But after his departure hence theatricals have been resumed, and the Sun Shameen (new Shameen) has continued to improve by its flower boats presenting a more lively appearance. During the past week the sons of Thespis have been performing near the race-course, when a number of rowdies bent upon obtaining free admission, kicked up a row, and in the skirmish which ensued several of the rabble were wounded. The Wu-Sing lottery system, which Cheong put a stop to and refunded to the license-holder, for the unexpired term, the balance of what was "squeezed" out of him for the purpose, has been re-established by the Chetoi for a consideration of $310,000 payable in three instalments, with the privilege to the present license-holder of four years operation. If your Sir Richard would convert the vice of gambling into a lottery system, it would perhaps find favor with he European section of the community, and, moreover, yield a larger revenue to Casualties on o the Colonial treasury. The residents at 4th Foot, wounder the treaty ports may also then be expected to throw not a few dollars into the Colonial coffers by their being afforded the opportunity of dabbling in lottery tickets. If time At Union Church, Hongkong, on the 2nd | bargains and dabbling in shares in the joint-stock associations are not a species of gambling, particularly in the case of the latter when it is apparent that a combination of Powerfuls keeps up or down the value of stock, which the state of affairs of the institution does not justify, neither will it be a sin to invest a few dollars in lettery tickets. In one at least of the Indian Presidencies the Government lottery was a great institution about twenty-five years ago, but it had to be abandoned on account of the abuses of the system on the part of certain sections of the general public having reached a climax. A change over the spirit of the dream seems to have come upon the bolted shroff, who has put in an appearance in propria persona. It appears there will be a deficiency of about forty per cent. to be made good to the depositors, but this it is expected will be easily arranged, since the chief supporters of the institution are said to be wealthy individuals, who have carried on business for over twenty years. Thus the slight shock, which the well-tested honesty of the Cantonese received, will be much sooner forgotten than the report of it was credited, and the well-grounded opinion of Casualties on our side, Capt. Roberts, 4th Foot, wounded in arm, and fifteen rank and file wounded; no one killed. On the two following days Theodore sent in to the English camp every European that he had in his power, both captives and employes. Theodore himself not surrendering according to Sir Robert's demand, given twenty-fours to decide. That demand not being complied with, the attack was made, the defences scaled and broken up, and just inside the gate King Theodorus lying in a canvas stretcher, with a guard of the 33rd in interred without any show or military himself in disappointment that the mere release of the prisoners did not cause the retirement of the British force. death, an Abyssinian prisoner told him the British were coming, and that the prisoners (upwards of 300 in number) would soon be released, which, it would appear, so exasperated him that he fired his pistol at the man and caused an immense number of them to be murdered in cold blood, and while in chains. Men and women shared the same fate. Some were shot, the rest stabbed, and then thrown over the precipitous side of the fortress, to undergo further mutilation in their dreadful fall down a depth of at least 100 feet. The bodies were one and all in a state of nuclity, and lay in the most unsightly position imaginable, the smell intolerable, and the sight heart-

I quite forgot to mention that the Commander-in-Chief expected to reach Zoolla by the 25th May. The European troops will leave Abyssinia first, the more especially those homeward bound.

Subjoined we give accounts of combat preceding the "storm," and the storming itself.

The extreme penalty of the law was car-now about to appear before my Creator, I feel it my duty to give expression to my heartfelt sorrow at the grievous crime I have committed. From the very bottom of who were proposed to do the deed had I not done it. I had not the slightest foundation for such a statement. I was never connected with any man, or any body of men, who had for their object the taking of the life of the Duke of Edinburgh, neither was I in any other than in an indirect manner connected with any organisation, in Ireland or elsewhere, which is known by the name of the Fenian organisation. I wish, moreover, directly to assert that there was not i single human being in existence who had the slightest idea of the object I had in view when I meditated on, and through the merciful providence of God, failed in carrying into effect, the death of the Duke of Edinburgh. I have written to the printers of two Irish periodicals an address to the people of Ireland. So certain was I of the death of the Duke of Edinburgh that stated therein that which I believed would be the fact; and I think I have more than implied that I was but one of an organisation to carry the same into effect. I need but say that the truth of the latter portion rests upon a slighter foundation than the former; in fact, that, unless from mere hearsay. I had no foundation for stating that there was a Fenian organisation in New South Wales. From continually thinking and talking of what I may still be allowed to call the wrongs of Ireland. Thousands of persons assembled on the quay. The ships of war manned their yards and fired Royal salutes. The Governor also went on board at three o'clock, to pay his last and parting respects to the rince. It was not till six o'clock the Galalea got under weigh. The engines were started, and as the moon rose the noble frigate steamed slowly down the harbour, the Vernon firing a Royal salute, and the band of the Challenger playing "Home, Sweet Home," as the Royal captain's frigate passed. The scene at the moment was very fine, and the cheering which rang over the harbour will not soon be forgotten by our Royal visitor. The steamers and yachts accompanied the Galatea to the Heads, where the farewell cheers were renewed. The Galatea crossed the bar before eight o'clock.

AS REGARDS PATTERNS. They must not be of intrinsic value. This rule excludes all articles of a saleable nature, and indeed, whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern; and the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern must not be so great that it can fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value. There must be no writing or marks other than the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark and numbers, and prices of the articles; otherwise the Packet will be detained or forwarded charged as an unpaid letter.

The Patterns must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Samples however, of seeds, drugs, and so forth, which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bage of linen or other material, tied at the neck; bags so closed that they cannot readily be opened, even although they be transparent, must not be used for this purpose. Non-compliance with this rule will also subject the packet to be detained, or forwarded as an unpaid letter.

 The Packets or the contents thereof must not contain any inclosure, scaled or otherwise closed against inspection.

In all other respects the general regulations of the Book Post will apply to the Pattern Post. Under these regulations, in order to prevent any interruption to the regular transmission of letters, a Packet of Patterns may, when it is necessary be kept back for the following Mail by which, in the ordinary course, it would be forwarded. The decision of the Postmaster General as to the eligibility of any Packet, pattern, or sample contained therein, to be forwarded under these regulations, will be final and conclusive.

The rule which forbids the transmission through the Post of any article likely to injure the contents of the Mail Bags or Macao, Canton, Amow, Swatow and Foo-Boxes, or the person of any Officer of the chow, in two parts. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS & OINTMENT. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. HIS Medicine is universally admitted to be the most efficacious remedy known to the world. No preparation is so suitable to the climates of India and China as this line and invigorating medicine. It is particularly adapted to the constitution of European ladies, as it is never failing in its effects in all diseases peculiar to females, while those who are attenuated by the debilitating effects of the above climates will find in this wonderful remedy a kind of talisman whereby they may insure a restoration to robust health.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. The science of Medicine has never before produced any remedy that can be compared to this wonderful Ointment, as it cares after all other means have failed, all wounds, sores, ulcers, and also the most inveterate skin diseases peculiar to the climates of India and China. It is the true friend of the Soldier and Civilian, as certain old sores can be removed by it that cannot be conquered by any other treat-

A very interesting book has lately been published, entitled "The Treaty Ports of China and Japan," to which it forms a complete guide, and regarding the history of which it gives interesting particulars. Maps of the various localities described are inserted, and an appendix shows the existing means of transport between Europe and America and these two countries. A work of the kind was much needed, to place within reach of the general public information regarding the districts in which they reside that had hitherto been concealed under the mysterious hieroglyphics of the Chinese language, or at best open only to sinologues. The modest hope expressed by the authors, that much will be found in the present book that is new nd unknown to the general reader, is, we think, fully justified. * * * Hongkong and Cauton, for example, each occupy more than 100 pages, comprising every conceivable particular regarding them, from their history native and foreign, to particulars of the geological formation and botanical wealth of the neighbourhood. * * * Not the least interesting feature in the book under review, is the insight it affords us into the character of the population in diferent parts of this vast empire. * * * One of the most interesting chapters is devoted to a sketch of the history and topographical teatures of Formosa. The vicissitudes of its history, the peculiarities of its inhabitants, and the reputed mineral wealth of its hills afford ample subject for research; and, to a person of Mr Swinhoe's tastes, must have offered powerful attractions. From his "Notes on Formosa" are derived many of the particulars given in the work under review. * * * Interesting descriptions of the fauna and flora of the island are given, for details of which we refer our readers to the book itself. We have, we believe, said enough to show the scope and character of the work; and must take leave of it for the present, though with the intention of completing our sketch of the information it gives regarding the various treaty ports, on a future occasion. In the meantime, we can assure our readers that no one who takes the trouble to gain a more intimate knowledge of it, will regret the time employed.

> From the Englishman (Calcutta) of June 8:-"The celebrated volumes of the French Abbé Hue on China, and Sir Rutherford Alcock's account of Japan are, no doubt, works of a far higher class and more extensive scope than the one now before us; but for practical utility. for all purposes of locomotion, trading and residence in any of the places coming within its compass, The Treaty Ports of China and Japan, by Messrs Mayers, Dennys and King, far surpasses them. It is difficult to know under what class of books to place it, for it contains a mixture of history, topography, bygiene, Murray's Hand-book and Bradshaw's Guide,—all as complete and excellent in their own line as could be expected; and though, perhaps, the book will not prove attractive to students, it is calculated to give a more intimate knowledge of the towns it describes, aided by the excellent maps which accompany it-the work entirely of Chinese-than any of the more elaborated works that have preceded * * * We trust we have said enough show that for any one about to visit, or reside in either of the countries described this work contains not only most valuable information, but many useful hints.

The author in his Preface says :-- "T tables in Chap. VII., for estimating price tables in Chap. VII., for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, &c. have been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China. Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, by the kind permission of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Bullion," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R. Harper, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchanges and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.

"The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the China Pilot." With short interruptions, the coasts from Singapore to Hakodadi are all described in it; and for the Chinese coasts, the Directions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names of all places that could be ascertained."
